We live it, Everyday!

Would you like a “partner” who would “assist” you to accomplish your goals not simply “sell” to you? Our relationships with our clients are built on the premise that we will work together for years not for just one event. We build a relationship that will be a continuous value to you for many years to come.

If you are looking for the first time, or just feeling out companies on price for your next event, please give us a call. Pro Video Audio Productions is a twenty-four year old company located in Southern Kentucky. We have set our goals high by employing the highest level of professionals, all of whom are innovators in our industry. We continue to grow even in today’s tough economy.

Our clients say our company philosophy of going the extra mile has ultimately proven to be our reason for success. Once you have become our client, we make it our goal to never let you return from where you came. Imagine life without the simple things like running water, or a telephone. We, as Americans, depend on these fine things to make our lives easier and more enjoyable. If you had never experienced these things, you would never realize what you were missing. Once you try us we promise that is how you will feel about us.

We at Pro Video Audio Productions specialize in more than just sound and lighting. We specialize in customer relations. Over the years we have parked cars, moved chairs and have been known to pick up trash alongside some of our clients. We build relationships that are un-paralleled by our competition, a true testament of our professional dedication.
